Vol. XXXIII

This book is inscribed to all of the gallant sons and daughters of B. H. S. who are now fighting that our glorious star-spangled banner may wave forever o'er the "land of the free and the home of the brave."

I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all"

Editors: Bonnie, Nancy, and Mary Jane.

Just a word . . .

We of the Belvi staff have felt a great responsibility this year—the responsibility of editing a book that reflects the work of B.H.S. in war time. B.H.S. has adapted itself in many ways to the new regime. New courses have been added, and others have acquired more dramatic significance. Students have been instructed in first aid, in protection from poisonous gases, and have been startled into practice drills by the scream of the air-raid siren.

By the first of March, the students of B.H.S. have bought two thousand dollars worth of defense stamps, and during the Booster Carnival drive, they sold thirty-one thousand dollars worth of bonds. They have worked industriously at new tasks such as gathering scrap and collecting grease. A deeper appreciation of the value of such organizations as the Red Cross was shown by the fact that, in a free-will collection, the students contributed one hundred and sixteen dollars to that organization. Teachers have spent their time as ration clerks, distributing books for oil, canned goods, and meats. Finally, the need of Uncle Sam for more fighting men has been answered by some of our students and teachers, and their going has made us think seriously of the meaning of democracy and of the American way of life.

Such activities we have felt to be worthy of faithful recording. The war has not been without its effect, however, upon us, as a staff. We have had difficulty in securing rubber cement, flashbulbs, and films. In order to co-operate with the engravers and printers who are handicapped by a shortage of workers because of war needs, we have sent our material away much earlier than usual. We regret, therefore, that our records of the school during March, April, and May are incomplete, but we trust that, in the light of the above explanation, that you will forgive us.

For four years now, Belvidere has had reason to be proud of its Community Building with its brilliant window symbolical of the Spirit of Play. The capacious kitchen has served dinners to thousands of people of various groups and interests; its gleaming basketball floor has entertained capacity audiences with thrilling games and spectacular floor-shows; its immense stage has provided a beautiful setting for many elaborate dramatic productions, concerts, and graduation exercises. It is indeed a building of Service as well as of Beauty.

Proud as we are of our new Community Building, our loyalty still remains with the halls of good old B.H.S. For twenty-six years, its classrooms have re-echoed sounds of serious endeavor, school air, giggles, boyish nonsense, noontime hubbub, and the hurry-scurry of passing classes. This year, something new has been added—fluorescent lights and a remodelled library. Truly, our hearts will always glow when we recall the many good times and the worthwhile inspiration we have received in Belvidere High School.

The Bayview Board of Education faced with problem of running the school during wartime have given freely of their efforts and time to keep the school operating smoothly. The Board has co-operated with the public in allowing the Community Building to be used for Civil Defense training, very early examinations and night classes in drama and in preparation for the draft concerning the shortage of farm land. Special arrangements were made by which boys and girls needed on farm could leave school at the first of May and by such early examinations receive equivalent to their course. Teachers this year doing a ration clerk for the rationing of gasoline, canned goods and meats used the school and the Community Building as ration centers.

The customary duties of the board—attending to the budget, selecting a teaching staff, buying school equipment, keeping the school building in repair and supervising the educational program in general—were handled by the following committees:

Allen and Fuller Fund: Marshall, Kleber.

Athletic: Klaas, Difford, Cooper.

Audit: Cooper, Klaas.

Band: Kleber, Cooper.

Budget: Helligas, Kleber.

Building and Grounds: Difford, Marshall, Klaas.

Community Building: Klaas, Helligas, Brett.

Insurance: Kleber, Difford.

Purchasing: Helligas, Marshall, Cooper.

Teachers: Marshall, Helligas, Difford.

Meetings are held by the board at least once a month to transact all business in open public meeting. Each member of the board serves for a term of three years, with the exception of the president whose term is one year. Each year in the spring an election is held for which the new board members and the president are chosen.

We appreciate the interest and efforts of the public spirited citizens whose work has aided greatly in the development and progress of our school.

The Man of the Year

A superintendent of a high school during war time is a busy man! Serving as rationing chief for gasoline, canned goods and meat, organizing air-raids drills and first-aid courses, arranging part-time employment for students in stores and factories to aid in war time shortage, acting as director of training for Civilian Defense courses, supervising the enlistment of seventeen year old seniors as navy aviation cadets, providing for meeting of interested boys with army and navy officials, these are some of the "extra" responsibilities Mr. Brett has taken it all in his stride, however, and, in addition to keeping the schools running smoothly at a crucial time, has found time to assist students with their personal problems and to prove himself their sincere friend. Our congratulations and deepest thanks, Mr. Brett!

Miss Ruth Harris, assistant principal of the high school, and registrar, helps Mr. Brett keep B H S. running smoothly. Friendly, fair, and with a good sense of humor, she has always been popular with the student body. Her chief task is to supervise all office records, and much of her time is spent in checking student progress, student grades, tardiness, and absences. Many a student, in later life, has come back to the high school to express his appreciation to Miss Harris for showing him the error of his ways and setting him on the right track.

to receive and account for all funds of various high school organizations, to see that the sales taxes are collected and paid to the state and the nation, to manage and arrange for the sale of tickets for basketball games, and to manage and direct the use of the various visual aids used by the schools—these are the duties of the business manager of the school. In addition, Mr. Wilbur S. Mong teaches aeronautics, physics, economics, and general science. They say "Satan finds time for idle hands", but he'll never catch Mr. Mong when he isn't busy.

RICHARD PETTEY

"God's fingers touched him and he slept."

The terrible trial of death has ended here to the glory of our Father. Dick Pettey was graduated into a higher life on November 27.

We never met him in person at B.H.S. Cheerful, friendly and generous Dick has made many friends.

Beginning with the freshman year Dick was a five-foot eleven, a big, busy, smiling, happy basketball player, and a star athlete. He was a member of the basketball team, and a member of the football team. Dick was a member of the high school star athletic group, the "B" Club.

Regarding the value of the work which he did, Dick was a member of the B.H.S. during his sophomore, junior, and senior years. He worked as a janitor in the school during his sophomore and junior years and was rewarded by the honor of becoming an Eagle Scout.

Dick was a good, all-round fellow, and we are glad to have known him.

At Graduation Time

The Junior-Senior Prom is always the big event of the social season. This was truly a gala affair, a South American festal scene with a brick-walled garden torched by pots of brilliant aerolium. The olivine marble, busy striped awning, and the two pictureque street lights, and the busy stream of hither and yon, all added to the old world charm. Last year's Junior, whose hard work made the prom a success, were Barb Bower, Patsy Griffith, Les Klaas, Mary Jane Tripp, Betty Turner, and Bob Wright.

Three highlights of the graduation season are the presentation of the Mantle and the announcement of the valedictorian and salutatorian. Each year the Mantle is presented at Class Day to some junior who has been elected on the basis of being the most outstanding all-around student in regard to character, service, scholarship, and leadership. Last year Bob Wright received this highest of all honors which a junior may receive.

In addition to having the highest scholastic average in the Class of '41, Nancy Luke and Jessie Glass, this year's valedictorian and salutatorian, have been outstanding leaders in school life. The class is proud and happy to have these highest honors for our popular, active, and well-rounded members.

The Class of '44

We now present the junior class peppy, intelligent, and versatile. The cheerful group pictured above are the class officers, and guided by them, the juniors have had a very successful year.

For the first time since the day of candy less profitable than usual this year. The candy girls started out bravely enough, but soon found that they had more on their hands a shortage in sugar made it impossible for leaders to supply the girls with enough candy bars to take care of the demand. More than one sweet tooth pined away during the year when it's owner saw on the candy counter—only coughdrops! Because the girls required large supplies of chewing gum, teachers were saddened and students were saddened by the scarcity of that product.

The paper and pencil business thrived as usual. Jean Dewane acted as distributor this year. There were a few hangers too. The hangers on the paper parks went to war, as a certain advertiser would say, and pencil erasers were streamlined to conserve rubber.

At the Junior Carnival this year the juniors broke tradition and elected the junior queen, Bernice Meter as Carnival Queen by selling almost twenty thousand dollars worth of bonds.

The juniors broke another tradition and ordered the ring this year instead of waiting until they were seniors. The ring choices were up to a choice of red, blue, onyx or gold with a B's crest crest.

Social Committee: Back: Bernice Kiefer, Juanita Jones, Bob Murley, Ed Foley, Dave Greel

School was almost suspended while the juniors argued about their class sweaters. At last, however, the decision was made in favor of a gray blue with white trimmer and when the new sweaters arrived, everyone was happy.

Hard working at home as well as at school, the juniors had a higher number on the honor roll than any other class. Heading the class scholastically were Susan Bergeson, Virginia Britton, Anne Duenbostle, Doris Falconer, Virginia Frank, Ralph Hatterden, Bernice Kieter, Nancy Laing, Joan Law, Joanne Marshall, Barbara Porter, Mitzi Porter, Marjorie Shattuck and Burton Wright.

For the Variety Show the juniors presented a clever skit, "The Horrors of Modern Life". The cast included Esther Mae Anderson, Marjorie Abraham, Joan Bergeson, Beverly Burt, Joyce Dreeke, Ed Foley, Ivan Johansson, Juanita Jones, Albert Johanson, Bernice Kieter, Nancy Laing, Ralph Peters, Marjorie Shattuck, Carson De Jarnatt, and Burton Wright.

Taken all in all, the juniors had a very busy and successful year under the guidance of their clever sponsors Miss Blackburn and Miss Force. We now present the Class of '44.

The Class of '45

The Class of '45 returned to BHS with feelings quite different from the surge of light and brightness which had overwhelmed them on the preceding year. They were now sophisticated sophomores.

Early in the fall they chose their class officers: Kenny Miles, Lyons Meyers, Kenny Foster, and Lois Feltz. Throughout the year their faithful advisors were Miss Fajardo and Miss Fajise. At the time of the Victory Carnival sponsored by the Student Council, they selected Jane Houston as their Queen. As home room representatives to the year they chose Don Bender, Lois Feltz, Marjorie Long, Betty Cakley, and John Shores.

The sophomores proved themselves to be an up and coming class. In the middle of the first semester found themselves high honors with the seniors having the largest number on the honor roll. Sophomores who earned this honor were: Dave Barr, Edward Day, Lois Feltz, Lisa Jones, Nellie Holmes, Jane Houston, Marjorie Long, Marilyn McKern, Kenneth Miles, Margaret Nord, Marguerite Schwartzman, John Shores, and Kenneth Swanson.

Fete Cakley earned the gratitude of the BHS students by assisting with the photography. Fete did the work with always willing to carry out the assignment, and we appreciate her assistance.

The Class of '45 had more than its share of running athletes. In the football team: Don Bender, Ed Carr, Ray Hill, Lyons Meyers, and Charles Leeper gave promise of being powerful players in the future. The basketball team: Don Bender, Ed Carr, and John Carme. Ray Hill, Lyons Meyers, Ed Pertrich, Art Funder, Jack Voorhes, and Charles Leeper come to the fore with ability which should develop into good varsity material.

Social Committee. Standing: Lyons Meyers, Ed Morrison, Kenneth Swanson, James Weaver, Harry Sawyer. Seated: Betty Luckow, chairman.

The Class of '46

In the fall of 1942 BHS welcomed to its ranks a class of freshmen, one hundred and sixty seven strong. They looked bright and fresh, and they were indeed a new class. [They had different ideas about each study-hall?] "Where is the gym?", "How can I get a library slip?"

The freshmen, however, contained themselves and began to build up a fine reputation for themselves. They entered into the study-hall life with energy and directed their ideas were up to the top of the pep and industry which the freshmen displayed.

Of course they were properly initiated. The Student Council saw to that. Some of the new freshmen were taken to the gymnasium to meet the other freshmen and the BHS student body. They were taken to the gymnasium by Bob Felt, John Duxman and Earl Griffith, who had not yet had a chance to see the Lochinvars—but with brooms in gala attire!

The popular vote was for the class to have put Walter Rye in to them by the party way in which they played paper and the feet in the pretty. He only won by a small margin to the study-hall.

Shrieks of laughter greeted the ever popular and now grunting center. Beth Davey and Kenny Smith showed an ability with a good time. The center was with the other team. Legally, we had a good time. A head of the center together with the student body was practically in the center to see the outcome.

Pictured below was another popular center. Hugh and Mary Agnes. They had a little game to see who could feed the other a dish of ice-cream the most quickly.

For the Boozer Carnival, the freshmen entered. They were the queen. They had again showed their cooperation and industry by the time way in which they supported the carnival.

At the variety show the freshmen worked up a clever number. "You're In The Army Now." Two twin sisters, Roger and Ed Wright, who had been at home, got into a little bit of a show when they were some of the problems of the officers of today. After peeling their share of potatoes, however, they find a develop into great leaders. Other members of the past were: Murray Cunniff, Ed Wright, Roger Wright, Bernard Berman, Max Rappave, Darwin Cooper, Gail Glick, LaRue McEwen, George Kottas, Hugh McCoy, Beth Davey, Barbara Berg, Mary Bicksler, Heier Anderson, Barbara Rood, Joan North, Trudy Lampert, Inez Johnson, Caroline Cleveland, Patricia Martin, Darwin Ginneth, Audrey Burton.

The freshman class is making a fine record in all ways. Eight freshmen have so far distinguished themselves to the honor that they were able to make the list semester honor roll. They are: Marguerite Welcher, Hugh McCoy, Darwin Cooper, Roger Wright, Lowe Berg and Mary Agne Bicksler.

Such are the records which the freshman class is carrying by. W. B. Storrie and Max McCord have made during their one short year in B.H.S. And here are their happy faces.

this Changing World!

CHEMISTRY Modern warfare is dependent upon the chemist for metals, explosives, medicines, high-octane gasoline, synthetic rubber, plastic, and a host of other products. Underlying the manufacture of any of these substances are certain fundamental chemical changes which can be learned in high school chemistry. An understanding of these changes plus the ability to handle apparatus enables the student who completes a year of high school chemistry to aid in war work by doing certain kind of analysis. Student learning chemistry today will be able to contribute to, or at least appreciate, some of the marvels of chemical engineering which will make the life of tomorrow so abundant.

COMMERCE The first year, part-time course has been accelerated to prepare some of the students to work in the field this summer. Salesmanship students are being prepared to help local business in part-time help during the year. Advanced typing students have assisted the Red Cross in preparing all the phone County's war population have aided commercial organizations in doing duplicating work because of wartime shortage. In help and have made a period study of letter forms used by the Army and the Navy. Junior Business students aided the Chamber of Commerce in collecting vital statistics of Belleville business establishment.

ENGLISH In composition classes the war was treated by writing such theme topics as: How the War Has Affected Me; Making America Strong; Post War Planning; etc. Literary selections were drawn from the angles of patriotism and democratic ideals. Current magazines were read and discussed in class in an effort to encourage thinking about modern problems, to foster an appreciation of the contemporary life, share enjoyable books and to read to pleasure and to aid students with a selected number of the better magazine.

HISTORY Never before has history played such an important role in the curriculum. The history department has emphasized current world affairs and the study of problems on the home front as well as on the foreign front. At every opportunity problems of the war effort are discussed. Propaganda and rumors are analyzed and patriotism made a part of the course. Foreign travel is emphasized on the thought-provoking problem of "Feigning of Air Transportation to Lost War-Torn Britain." Maps slowly become more vital this year as American history leaped its boundaries and far-off, comparatively little-known countries were blazoned in headlines.

HOMEMAKING During the year the Home-making department has adapted itself to present day problems. Much attention has been given to planning meals for the day according to the government regulations and to working with proper saving and budgeting. The girls make very appetizing cakes, pies and cookies and learned to make such variety meats as beef, liver, pork and baked meat. They make a variety of present buying problems. Girls impressed with the necessity of taking better care of clothes and equipment learned the correct way to wash and to care for them. Girls were encouraged to rearrange closets and one girl made a series of very fine suits for the use of her brother who is now in the army. The girls found that their made by themselves are much less expensive than ready-made ones and could be made to fit better and to express their own personality and originality. The girls made a plan for the year to make emergency kits and carry over and make them more efficient as they saw them in the future.

HOME ROOMS Early in the fall a system of course in first and second grades in being taught the home room which were lengthened to an hour for this purpose. Mr. M. A. after Mr. Carter, Mr. Munroe, Mr. Ryan, Mr. Law and Mr. Huppert were the instructors. All girls were given instruction in types of dressings and bandages, treatment of wounds and how to handle respiratory diseases, how to use first aid and how to use their common emergency kit and transportation. Each student furnished herself with a first aid kit or bandage and practiced on her own the use of open head bandages, arm and tourniquets, etc.

In addition Mr. M. A. after gave instruction to all home room in the recognition of poisonous substances. In the illustration he showed them working with the kit of the live non-combustible, explosive, mustard, Lewisite, cyanide, phosphorus, and phosphorus. (Explosive and non-combustible) bombs were also included in the lecture. A non-combustible bomb was displayed to show shape, size and internal arrangement. Mr. M. A. after visited all of the grade classes with the first aid kit.

MANUAL ARTS The boys in the manual arts department were able to serve their country by making model airplanes for the government. This year they made about one hundred and fifty which equaled their record of last year. Most according to government regulations, these planes are shipped to an aviation or cadet base where they are used for identification purposes. Models made include model of Japanese, German, and Italian planes as well as more of the United States. In addition to this work, the boys receive valuable practice in line work, drafting, and furniture making.

MATHEMATICS A ninety percent increase in advanced algebra over a five year enrollment, and a seven and two thirds percent decrease in solid geometry enrollment, together with a record breaking registration of twenty-one in trigonometry showed the tendency of advanced students of mathematics to shift from the geometry to the utilization. Over eighty students, both juniors and seniors, worked voluntarily without credit during the home room period on a refresher mathematics course taught by Mrs. Conger and Mrs. Erickson to help students qualify for military examination.

PHYSICS The war has emphasized the need for physicists who are now busy trying to get the answer to the atomic bomb problem. Radio and electricity have made boundless progress since the war, and after the war the public will get very greatly improved radio reception and television. It is probable that at that time aerial photography will be available for the masses. The physics course, BHS in Life Measurement, Sound, Heat, Magnetism, and Electricity with its application to Telephone, Telegraph, etc. Physics are now in demand and physics is becoming a more and more vital subject.

SPANISH A clear realization of the contribution of foreign lands to the world's cultural heritage is necessary in the solution of the tremendous problem which confronts us. Today a working knowledge of foreign languages is more important than ever before. An understanding of alien customs and ways of thinking is vital if we are to cooperate effectively with our allies to understand our enemies. To understand them, we must know their language. An appreciation of an alien culture forms an essential part of a liberal education. Listening to foreign broadcasts once a week makes the Spanish program come to life.

Varsity Gridders

Here are Belvidere's warriors of the gridiron, who are making and peeling away the most successful football season in many years. The skill of Coach Carter, Manager, and Nelson reflected in the success of the team.

Don Bender, sophomore back, gained much yardage on end runs and reverses for Belvidere. The pride and eagerness of Bud Black, senior guard, made him a valuable asset to the team. Chez Baker, junior center, was a great line man on the back up the line. Elmer Carter, captain and senior end, won his honorable mention in the district kick. He was an excellent punter. Perry Coney, captain and senior back, was a great blocker on offensive plays. But Carter, junior guard, was a line job of breaking through opposing line. His brother, Dick Carter, tackle, helped the team to get many extra points by punting into the end zone. Floss, junior end, will be back next year to keep up the good work of snagging points for B.H.S. Ray Hicks, sophomore tackle, was the big man of the team and he will have two more years to play. Les King, senior end, was a consistent player and should be depended upon at all time.

Lyons Meyers, sophomore back, was a great change of pace runner and he should be heard of in the next two years. Junior Morgan, senior center, was a valuable asset to the line on both offense and defense. Dix Ketter, senior back, was a valuable man to the team as he could play any position on the back field. He also established the enviable record of being the only man reporting for practice every night. Ray Hicks, sophomore tackle, was one of the most consistent men on the team and he should be heard of plenty next year. His speed and grit was much to be feared for B.H.S. Bob Trapp, junior guard, was one of the best tacklers on the squad and made many opposing backs worry. Ray Trapp, senior back, was the Number One man on the team when it came to pass interception. The kicking and line smashing of Bob Wright, senior back, could always be depended upon for so far as points.

M. I. A.

The M. I. A. this year has been very active and successful in its aim of encouraging more widespread participation in sports by non-letter winners. Since Mr. Fischer, former M. I. A. sponsor left B. H. S. to instruct in the armed forces, Mr. Carter took over and has done a fine job of keeping M. I. A. interest running high.

This year the M. I. A. sponsored tournaments in basketball, volleyball, baseball, golf and tennis. At the beginning of each season all boys who are interested in participating in a certain sport sign up on the bulletin board. Captains pick their team for that sport. A schedule is drawn up and games start. This year there was a noon league and a night league in basketball. Two noon league tournaments were played and the champions along with the night league champs are shown at the right.

Night League Champs

Noon League Champs (Second Half)

Noon League Champs (First Half)

During Basketball Season

The year 1943 was a memorable one for the B.H.S. boys' basketball team, the varsity team, the year winners, who played out of the 31 games. Probably the most outstanding game of the year was the one with Belvidere, in which Belvidere, by defeating them, overcame one of the strongest teams in the state. Don Taylor, captain of the team, gave a splendid victory in one of the most thrilling games. Belvidere fans have exclaimed, "The highlights were the defeat of both East Rockford and West Rockford." Belvidere made their further heights by placing second in the Catholic holiday tournament and winning first place in the regional tournament. After defeating the regional champion, West Rockford, we then won the regional and became one of the state's sweet sixteen. All in all, we are very proud of the record of our varsity squad.

The Fresh-Soph Cagers

The freshman squad also had a fine season during 1943, winning 14 out of the 28 games played. Freshmen had their own tournament this year and Beverly defeated Harlem 32-18 for the championship. Our team is speedy and scrappy and Beverly is looking forward to the work from them next year. With such fine coaching as Mr. Carner and Mr. Mansager, whose skill is reflected in the success of the team, Beverly is proud of its 1943 record and is already looking forward to the 1944 season. As a reward for their fine work, the Board of Education treated the basketball boys to a trip to Champaign to see the state tournament. Was that ever a thrill!

The senior team captained by Betty Craig, were in for a one-point game. The senior girls in that great team were Mary, the wonder, Doreen, Foy, and Gerrie. For Junior A, on the other hand, were Martha, Bernice, and Marguerite. Culvey, Nancy, Jukes, and Barbara Bauer.

Following next were the appearance with Margie Rennie of their sponsor, reporting her with Elaine Greer, Margie Lutz, Betty, Lillian, Frances Barker, Irene, Fannie, Neva, Helen, and Mary, Darlene Frint, Marilyn McKern, and Joyce Barnes.

In the latter part of February, however, was started a program to be devoted to the study of the Bible. The boys were divided into groups with names suggested by their teachers. Teams were picked in the latter part of March, and a class tournament was played off.

Band Director — Mr. Kepley

Musicians of B. H. S.

In compliance with personnel policy the band was reorganized this fall on a major basis. In September, every band member received a letter stating with the hope that everyone being a buck private. Promotions were given to reflect the new organizational requirements for the coveted ranks—corporal, sergeant, lieutenant and captain. Robert Lutz and Marjorie Shattuck were the first to be advanced to the rank of lieutenant. In March Jane Wainscott earned her lieutenant rank. Other band members have been working hard toward a higher rating and the last of March will undoubtedly see a great many more promotions. The general feeling of the B. H. S. is to press too early to be able to include their names in the "Let's go" list.

In January, the band was treated by the P. T. A. and a banquet where nearly three hundred guests attended. Tables for the banquet were beautifully decorated with the "V" theme. Mr. Lutz gave a short talk about the role played by music in education during wartime. He referred to letters from government officials that stress the importance of giving war time children joy and participation in community affairs. Among the many difficulties caused by wartime conditions is the inability to purchase new instruments and sometimes even to repair parts.

After the banquet a social hour was enjoyed. High school seniors were the cornet solo by Robert Lutz, playing a variety of songs. Marjorie Shattuck played a variation of "Old Folks at Home." Feature numbers were played by the band. The first was a duet by Robert Lutz and Marjorie Shattuck, playing a variety of songs. The B. H. S. band has developed in popularity a great deal during the past year, and with its spectacular twirling adjunct is very popular with the citizens of Beverly. Mr. Kepley, whose talent and originality is reflected in the success of the band, deserves a great deal of praise for his work.

The Belvi staff has felt a great responsibility this year to record the different ways in which B.H.S. has adapted itself to the wartime emergency. We want you all to remember in future years as many details as possible—even how dark it was at night and how dark over the country for the duration, radios announced Central War Time, and we crept thru during the winter months in the dark and the dark to go to school with street lights burning and stars shining in the night and in the morning.

We have worked under hard conditions. Photography has been so very restricted that we had to depend heavily on our staff photographer, Bill Anderson. Helped by the very new man, Pete Kealey, and a fine job of gathering pictures. Pete being only a sophomore, he is not a bona fide member of the Belvi staff, but he is an efficient photographer and helped us whenever called upon, and we are deeply indebted to him for his assistance. The student body has cooperated with us in the taking of the large group pictures. As only one shot was taken, it was necessary for the group to make a special effort to remain still for the 1-2-3, and although some of the faces look a little strained from the unaccustomed quietness, there was very little movement in the group.

We take this opportunity to express our appreciation to Mr. McClary who took our senior, underclass and large group picture, and to Mr. Kealey who took some of our other group pictures, and most of all, to the photographer for our picture on page.

We have worked hard during the year to put out a Belvi which would be not only enjoyable to read, but which we hope our efforts were well worth.

"B" Club

The B Club's year is popular as ever with the athletes of BHS. For the officers they chose Clinton Coker, president; Bob Wright, vice president; Stuart Sison, treasurer; and Kenny Culver, secretary.

To become eligible for membership in the organization, a boy must win a varsity letter in either football, basketball or track. He then duly initiated and the pledge are really made to earn the membership. Each year awards are given to outstanding members of football, basketball and track. A gold medal, the silver one was awarded to Jerry Cline, the silver one to Clint Cator, and the bronze one to Jack

Miss Fairchild—Advisor

One of the boys around B.H.S. who performs fine service for the readers of the Bel-Hi News is that which is a paper every two weeks. The excellence of the paper is better attested by the fact that the staff produced a fine Christmas Eve special for the National Student Press Association.

The third period of each day is the Bel-Hi News period. The staff meets in Room 301 with the reader, Miss Fairchild, and plan about garbage, dinner, and other activities and, of course, sometimes try to settle the affairs of the world.

For the past three years, the Bel-Hi News has paid a share of the expense of an outstanding student to attend the annual conference at Northwestern University. Lyons Meyers, who was awarded this privilege, and the excellent training which he received, reflected in the fine way in which she served as Bel-Hi News editor during the past year.

The planned to put on a fine and enjoyable Bel-Hi Commencement Day which will be a magnificent day, with a graduation ceremony, a general review of the year. The staff is intended to supplement the Bel-Hi which goes to press every day to make it possible to make their best.

As sponsor of the Bel-Hi News, Miss Fairchild has played a valuable part in putting out a newspaper which B.H.S. is proud. Our thanks to Miss Fairchild.

The Production Staff of the Bel-Hi News is the busy group who not only keep the newspaper out of the red but also make it possible to contribute to many worthwhile activities.

Throughout the year, the good and sturdy of the financial department is the sale of chocolate milk and potato chips at noon in the Community Building.

This year, the Bel-Hi News has sponsored a large number of high school dances on Friday night. To the music of Ross Somerville's orchestra, high school students had a chance to relax and be merry and forget the daily grind. Admission was only fifteen cents plus the purchase of a ten-cent defense stamp. A couple of hard time dances were introduced as feature dances and proved very popular.

On March 19, the annual variety show was presented in the Community Building. To make competition more fair between classes and groups, a prize of three dollars was to be given to the best class stunt, another prize of three dollars was given to the best group stunt, and still another three dollar prize was given to the best individual stunt.

The production staff is proud of their record of always having the new paper come out on time. During rationing week, the staff kept on the job and regularly students work at noon and late afternoon to keep their record intact. Let's give a hand to the staff of the Bel-Hi News, who do a fine job of presenting a bi-weekly record of life at BHS.

In February, the boys worked at Red Cross Advertising distribution. They distributed posters and window cards to most of the business houses of Beverly and pamphlets to all the schools. The Chapter also contributed five dollars to the Red Cross.

Toward the latter part of March, the second FFA Minute Show was given. Our book was so pressed too soon to have the details of this entertainment but passing them later. Now the 1943 version is due to be given. The men will be Bill Luce, Lawrence Warner, Bob Graftman, Bud Bark, Edward Foley, and Dick Sager. The interlocutor will be Russell Meyers.

In April, the boys really bore down on the hard work. They pruned and sprayed their home orchards, prepared soil for spring seeding, and started a training class in farm work. About the first of May, because of shortage of farm labor due to the wartime emergency, it became necessary that many of the boys leave school and spend the full time on the farm. The faculty and the Board of Education cooperated with the FFA in this problem. Exemptions were given early and full credit was given to all boys who left school early to work on the farm in full time jobs.

Officers of the FFA are: Homer Lamb, president; John Stokes, vice-president; William Fletcher, treasurer; Gordon Keast, secretary; Robert L. Johnson, reporter; and Jack Curtis, watchdog.

The next group of members are: Emerson, George Anderson, Lester Allen, Earl Branner, Donald Carson, Merin Carson, Raymond Engstrom, Lova Gray, Merle Hurlington, Keith Knapp, Donald Lamm, Donald Leggett, Lawrence Kerlet, Lova Denni, Martin Laverne, Wainescott, Arthur Kutek, Howard, chairman.

G. A. A. Shows

The G.A.A. started it with a hand drawn the 30 girls who were interested in becoming members signed up as players and the 1st week of September the G.A.A. had a "Buddy Hike". Each member took her buddy and went hiking. The 2nd week of Sept. a picnic was held. A picnic where a wiener roast was welcomed. Then the rain came and it was a wash out.

[illegible]

Before the night, the Third Avenue AA "gals" were out. Corn-shocks, pumpkins, an Indian mural and programs in the shape of a tree marked out the Thanksgiving theme. Quin Bowen's orchestra played and the girls all had a tree tree.

Every month a potluck supper is held at the Community Building. The G.A.A. girls really feast then. Luscious cakes, super-salads and yummy finger foods are put on the table and good conversation and the prizes which follow. In March the G.A.A. held their potluck with the H. Y. boys and—we all went in having the boys there.

bearers. Adele Sellers, Sandra Brown, Carol Brien, and Barbara Haley were charming in the picturesque attire.

Patriotic in theme, the revue was divided into three parts. America the Melting Pot portrayed the folk dances of Spain, Hawaii, Hungary and Mexico. Frontier Defense was in turn subdivided into At Home, On Land and On Sea. Popular features in this section were "My Sunshine", "Farmerettes" and "Old Gray Mare". The third and last section, "You're in the Army Now", consisted of military dances—tap, square-dances and good old army getting up exercise.

1943 has been a memorable year for us. We who had classes in the north corner of the high school will always remember how we watched the trains coming from Camp Grant with khaki-uniformed men. We wondered as we sat in our classes what the destinations of our soldiers were. Guadalcanal? the Aleutians? Pearl Harbor? Australia? New Guinea? Tunisia? Egypt? India? China? Iceland? For boys from E.H.U. have been sent to all of these far-flung battlefronts and far far from their native land are fighting desperately for the American way of life.

And so, with hearts stirred by the magnitude of the great drama of war in which we all, to some extent, are playing, or will play a part, we pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."
